The managed fleet of Jet-2000 comprises modern business jets manufactured by Dassault, Bombardier and Hawker-Beechcraft. The company expects the number of aircraft to grow steadily over the coming years as a result of the recent developments in Russian legislation – namely the abolishment of import tax for some business jet models and the simplification of aircraft import and ownership rules.

Aircraft management programs at Jet-2000 are elaborate, cost-efficient and tailored to aircraft type, operational profile and client preferences. Highest qualifications and experience of Jet-2000 staff provide for the best aircraft management solutions and operational stability in the Russian regulatory environment.

Dedicated and diligent work of the Jet-2000 team ensures:

- Smooth performance of flight schedules to any part of the world supported by the first-name dispatch and flight following in Russia (Streamline OPS)
- Aircraft maintenance up to the strictest flight safety requirements alongside internationally certified line-maintenance in Moscow
- Russian speaking internationally qualified flight-deck crews
- Clean and efficient accounting of operational costs
- Top-performance commercial utilization of aircraft
- Highly-qualified Russian and English speaking charter sales managers, available anytime of the day
- Best aviation-related legal advice and audits and much more
